Barbara Jones
former Chief Curator
The Westmoreland Museum of American Art

Barbara L. Jones, the Museum's first Curator, joined The Westmoreland Museum of American Art in October 1995, was promoted to Chief Curator in 2009, and retired after 26 ½ years on April 1, 2022. As a member of the Senior Management team, she had overall responsibility for the Museum's permanent collection and exhibitions. With a concentration in the primary fields of nineteenth and twentieth century American art, she holds Masters degrees in both Art History and Museum Studies from Syracuse University and has a record of published research in American and regional art. Publications in conjunction with exhibitions include Nature Staged: The Landscape and Still Life Paintings of Levi Wells Prentice (1993); Samuel Rosenberg: Portrait of a Painter, in cooperation with Carnegie Museum of Art (2003); Born of Fire: The Valley of Work, on the Museum's scenes of industry collection (2006); and Painting in the United States (2008). Picturing America: Signature Works from the Westmoreland Museum of American Art (2010) was published to accompany the reinstallation of the permanent collection galleries that year. She contributed to the catalogue and co-curated the exhibition Simple Pleasures: The Art of Doris Lee that opened in September 2021. A member of American Alliance of Museums and the Association of Art Museum Curators, she juries both national and regional art exhibitions and lectures on a regular basis. With her exceptional museum team, she completed the redesign and reinstallation of all the renovated and expanded galleries of The New Westmoreland in 2015. She served as a member and Chair of the Historic Architectural Review Board for the City of Greensburg from 2007-2019.
